Devotio. Inwardness, Individualization and Religious Agency in the Late Medieval Low Countries (1350-1500)

CONTENTS

Inwardness and Individualization in the Late Medieval Low Countries: An Introduction
   Rijcklof Hofman

‘Individualization’ and ‘Personalization’ in Late Medieval Thought
   Rob Faesen

Geert Grote’s Choice of a Religious Lifestyle Without Vows
   Rijcklof Hofman

‘Ama nesciri’: Thomas a Kempis’s Autobiography Reconstructed from his Works
   Margarita Logutova

‘Antiseusiana’: Vita Christi and Passion Meditation before the Devotio Moderna
   Nigel F. Palmer

Modern Devotion and Arrangements for Commemoration: Some Observations
   Koen Goudriaan

Close Enough to Touch: Tension between Inner Devotion and Communal Piety in the Convents of Sisters of the Devotio Moderna
   Anne Bollmann

Individuality and Scripted Role in Devout Song and Prayer
   Thom Mertens and Dieuwke van der Poel

Illustrated Incunabula as Material Objects: The Case of the Devout Hours on the Life and Passion of Jesus Christ
   Anna Dlabačová